Orindian Killed in Home By Unknown Assassin

A 60-year-old collection agency owner was shot to death in the entrance hall of his Orinda home Tuesday evening by a still unknown assassin, according to reports of the Contra Costa Sheriff's Office.

William "Ray" Anderson was shot through the heart and died instantly when he answered his doorbell at 1 Las Amigas Drive. Anderson and his wife were alone in the house when the doorbell rang. Anderson put on his slippers and robe and went to the door, the report of Deputy Sheriff Robert Barrett stated.

He was shot with a .22 caliber weapon which was fired through the screen door of the sprawling Spanish-style home.

The assailant fled, leaving no apparent clues to his identity, said the report.

MRS. ANDERSON called a neighbor, Dr. Paul A. Slattery of 5 Las Amigas Drive, Dr. Slattery said Anderson was dead when he reached the Anderson home.

Anderson was the president of a collection agency at 31 Geary

Street in San Francisco. Sheriff's Inspector Norman Wilson said that investigations were proceeding on the basis that the slayer may have been a debtor who Anderson's firm was pressing for payment.

THE TIME of the slaying was set by sheriff's deputies, following statements of Mrs. Anderson, as shortly before 9 p.m.

Found by sheriff's deputies as possible clues were a .22-caliber bullet which ended Anderson's life and some fresh footprints on the garden area in front of the house.

Wilson stated that the peephole in the front door, where Anderson stood when he was shot, was open.

This presents the possibility, he said, that Anderson may have opened it and thought that he recognized the assassin before opening the front door. Wilson opined, Anderson was president of Anderson and Perkins, a firm which handles the bad accounts of wholesale, retail and professional firms.

Little Old Lady Worries Cops, Panics Bus Patrons

By NORMAN COLBY

That sweet little old lady who hears bells ringing, tells fortunes and lives in a tavern will be remembered well by Walnut Creek police officers.

She stopped in Walnut Creek for an hour on her way to San Francisco, early Tuesday.

The Red Cross called the police at 11 a.m., to tell a strange story about a gray-haired lady who entered the Chapter building on Civic Drive and tried to burn 15 cents, offering in return a coke or some sugar she carried in a large shopping bag.

WHEN THE Red Cross representative referred her to the Police Department where Salvation Army funds are made available in cases of real need, the little old lady cried out, "There go those bells! I've got to go now!"

Two officers in a patrol car traced the visitor to the Walnut Creek bus station, and they were joined by the two newest members of the force, two lady traffic deputies.

But the little old lady dodged any pertinent questions, and insisted on telling the fortune of one of the lady deputies.

She hinted that one of the deputies was not 29 years old, as she claimed, but 40.

SHE THEN slipped out of the waiting bus where she was being questioned, and dashed about the bus station, with the two "deputies" and now four police officers in hot pursuit.

She dashed out into the middle of Main Street and waved her hands wildly at the traffic. The bus station became a mass of confusion. Buses were delayed. And work stopped momentarily at the city hall across the street, as amazed office workers peered out.

Cornered once again, the little old lady produced a bus ticket to San Francisco, but did not explain how she came into possession, when only an hour earlier she had been seeking money to buy one. Becoming more friendly, she confided that her first name was "Anna."

WHEN questioned about her home address, she gave a phone number, but was mum otherwise. Officers finally calmed her down, assured the bus authorities that she was harmless, and packed her aboard a bus for San Francisco.

A police matron later called the San Francisco phone number to ask if Anna lived there.

There was a pause on the other end of the line, some whispers, and finally a voice boomed out, "Lady, this is a respectable tavern. We have no Anna here!"

Woman's Guild Plans Luncheon

A Christmas luncheon and program will be given by the Women's Guild at the Orinda Community Church at noon Monday. Members of the 1958 Guild Board will be hostesses. Mrs. John W. Dorr will present a Christmas story entitled "The Other Wise Man" by Henry Van Dyke. Devotions will be given by Mrs. John F. Ogden.

There will be no business meeting. The philanthropy chairman, Mrs. John Traynor, has suggested that members and guests bring a gift for elderly men or women at the County Hospital in Martinez. Gifts should be wrapped, labeled as to contents. The Women's gift (Thank-Offering) boxes will be collected under the tree.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Donald Krotz at CL 4-2045 or with Mrs. John Dorr at CL 4-2490.

Supervisor Reply To Signal Petition Studies Continue

A petition calling for signal lights at the Village Bypass intersection with El Tonalayal was presented recently to the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen pointed out that the intersection is low in priority, based on vehicle and pedestrian traffic, among those in the county for which such controls are being considered.

However, he said, periodic checks are being made by the Public Works Department to keep track of any possible increase in degree of hazard.

"Frank Isola, Orinda school principal, told me school officials are assuring parents that the county is watching and considering conditions at the El Tonalayal crossing," Nielsen added.

Card Groups Aid Parents Club

A pleasant and congenial way to support the Orinda Union School Parents Club is through participation in one of the club-sponsored bridge groups, according to Marion Long. Beginners' groups meet the first and third Tuesday evenings or the first and third Wednesday mornings of each month. A contract group meets Wednesday afternoon from 12 to 3 p.m. twice a month and a duplicate group meets on Tuesday mornings. Evening groups for husband and wives meet Friday nights. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. LeRoy Bromley at CL 4-4408 or Mrs. James Dana at CL 4-3294.

Gas War Still On in County

Contra Costa's on again, off again, gas war slowed down a little this past week with several stations boosting prices by one cent.

The average cost of regular gasoline was 24.9 cents per gallon with indications that the war would not be over in the immediate future, according to a service station operator in Lafayette.

Prices in Pleasant Hill remained stable at 24.9 while in Walnut Creek they ranged from 21.9 to 25 cents per gallon for regular.

Premium gasoline held its previous level of 4 to 5 cents above regular gasoline prices.

Orinda Ass'n Candidates Offer Their Viewpoints

The statements of candidates for Orinda Association directorships were reported this week to The Sun. There are eight candidates.

The candidates are Kenneth Renwick, Lester Hink Jr., E. F. Hochenbeamer, Mrs. M. A. (Connie) Hall, Philip Mittell, Vic Kingston, John Maga and David Young.

The ballots will be placed in the mails this week, and association members should return them in time for postmarking by next Friday.

THE BALLOTS will be counted December 8.

Les Hink was born in Berkeley and attended Berkeley High. He is divisional merchandise manager for J. F. Hink and Son Department store.

The Hinks have two boys, 6 and 15 years old. Mr. Hink has had some experience collecting association dues. He said that the dues collection chore has indicated to him that the association needs to improve its public relations.

Also, the older people in the area should be better familiarized with the association's work, he said.

VICTOR KINGSTON has been a resident of Orinda for six years. His wife Rita and he have two sons, Jeff and Ronnie.

He is employed as a mechanical engineer by the Bechtel Corporation. He is a past president of the Moraga Meadows Association and the Contra Costa County Commuters Association.

He is now the chairman of the association's Civic Affairs committee.

He said that if elected he will work to obtain the most favorable master plan from the county planning commission, closer cooperation with the improvement associations, and he will study the possibilities involved in increasing the tax base.

DAVE YOUNG has lived at 28 Ivy Drive for four years with his wife, Betty, and two boys, Steve and Fred.

Young is a University of California graduate and a Navy veteran.

Young said he favors a strong Orinda Association, "... because residents of an unincorporated area such as this frequently need a voice stronger than their own."

He added, "Close cooperation with established neighborhood improvement associations is vital in my opinion, to the continued success of our group."

JOHN MAGA said, "I have lived in Orinda since 1951 with my wife Mary and two children, Carol Ann and Rick. As a civil and sanitary engineer I have had an opportunity to work closely with local California agencies on many problems.

"Our family likes Orinda and hopes to be able to remain here for many years. If selected a director I will work to keep Orinda an attractive and desirable community in which to live."

Mrs. M. A. (Connie) Hall is a resident of 17 Camino Encinas, a member of Orinda Community Church, a resident for 5 years.

She has a degree in home economics, Iowa State, and did commercial art in advertising for 10 years. She is in the Mothers Club, High School Mothers Club, Miramonte Parents Club, Cub Scouts and on several committees.

Bingo Urged Legalized By DA-Elect

District Attorney-elect John Nejedly this week said that he is preparing to draft a law for submission to the California Legislature which would make legal bingo games and raffles, where they are conducted by religious, charitable and non-profit organizations.

He conferred with the Law Enforcement Committee of the County Grand Jury.

He said that at present bingo and raffles are against the law, but he added that those "crimes" are generally acceptable in the community when held by religious, charitable and non-profit activities.

NEJEDLY, in commenting on the general conduct of his office, said that he expects local law authorities to take necessary action, and he as district attorney would step in only when local enforcement breaks down.

He referred specifically to the "gambling problem" which existed for years in Contra Costa County.

The preparation of a suitable law making the bingo games and raffles legal under restricted conditions will be in time for the 1959 legislative session, Nejedly said. He added that many other states have adopted similar legislation.

Nejedly added that recent supreme court rulings, by barring admission of evidence obtained without specific search warrants or from undisclosed informants, have made enforcement difficult.

HE SAID THAT this particularly pertaining to enforcement of narcotics laws.

He said he would favor legislation to correct this situation.

Nejedly then suggested that a study be made of narcotics addiction in Contra Costa County, to develop better control and enforcement measures.

He added that his office will be extensively reorganized when he takes office on January 1.

SEPARATE departments for complaints, preliminary examinations, investigations, welfare, failure to provide, civil trials, special districts, board of supervisors, trial and appeal, extradition and special assignments will be established.

A new reference system, by which all agencies will be able to quickly learn what happened in each arrest, will be established.

Nejedly will also hold staff conferences with city law officers, and inform them of recent developments.

Nejedly said he stands on his promise not to have a private practice himself, and will move to discourage his deputy district attorneys from having same.

SPECIAL districts seeking the services of the district attorney's office will be required to pay for them, and thereby not be a burden on the taxpayers, he said.

His office will supply all legal services required by the county, and no outside special counsel will be needed, Nejedly said.

The establishment of a medical examiner system under the county coroner, with a centralized morgue and crime laboratory will be recommended, he said.

CD Leaders Prepare for Wet Winter

Getting ready for an anticipated "wet winter," representatives of the County Civil Defense office on Monday will attend a one-day flood fighting school, conducted in the State Department of Water Resources, Sacramento.

Instruction will include levy control methods, and bank protection, including the use of sand bags, lumber and canvass.

This is only one phase of preparations being coordinated by the Civil Defense office, under the direction of Will Perry Jr.

The CD office also has arranged for transmission of latest daily weather forecasts to its headquarters on Arnold Industrial Highway, and relays where necessary to other county units.

It was also announced that all area high schools have received kits of nuclear radiation detection instruments, which will be used by science teachers and students for training purposes.

The kits were loaned by the California Disaster office and Federal office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

Gifts from Civic Groups Reach Sum of 4050 Trees

The Orinda beautification project for the business district and areas bordering major streets today was beginning to flower.

An ardent gardener herself, Mrs. Paul Pollaczek, beautification co-chairman, has long urged neighbors to help make ugly areas as pretty as Orinda's residential sections.

Gifts from the Orinda Association, the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce have resulted in an order for 4050 seedling trees.

The Beautification Committee met Tuesday at Moraga Valley Nursery. Mrs. Pollaczek and Mrs. Stanley Allen, co-chairmen, reported that letters have been sent to 28 improvement and community organizations, describing the program and asking for trees.

The California olive has been chosen as the evergreen best suited for planting conditions of Pacific Gas & Electric Co.'s right-of-way on Camino Pablo. "It is extremely hardy, wind and frost-resistant," Mrs. Pollaczek said.

For shade in parking areas off the highway, Robert M. Babcock's plan calls for fruitless mulberry trees.

TREES DONATED by organizations will bear plaques identifying donors. Three olive trees have already been donated by the Orinda Woman's Club, the Orinda Valley Garden Club and the Hilltop Garden Club.

Allen reported his committee of business men is working on a landscape plan to coordinate shopping areas on both sides of the highway.

There is a possibility, he said, that redwood tubs, made in quantity in Orinda, can be secured at low cost. These would be used along the sidewalks of business sections.

Richard Bartle, chairman of the Orinda Planning Committee, proposed that his committee join the beautification group in studying the possibility of mass-planting the Orinda Village area, from the underpass to El Tonalayal.

WILLIAM PENN MOTT JR. has stated that the whole area should be treated as a unit, and permission obtained from landowners to put in background planting, coordinated for effect.

"This could again become a uniquely beautiful area," he said. "In addition to pines, redwoods and firs, we could spot clumps here and there for fall color and spring bloom."

Dr. Ralph Hall, a director of the Orinda Association and a new Beautification Committee member, has ordered the 4050 seedlings donated by civic groups from the California State Nursery at Davis.

THE ORDER includes pines, firs, redwoods, eucalyptus, Chinese pistache, liquid amber and golden rain trees. The latter three will be planted where there is water seepage or other means of maintenance.

The Moraga Valley Nursery has offered to "heel in" the seedlings until they are needed.

Planting date has been set for December 13 or January 10, depending upon rainfall necessary to soften earth. John Miller of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is in charge of planting labor.

The Jaycees are expected to be out in force.

Older scout groups will also help. Hot chocolate and coffee will be served by garden club groups.

"Since last march when the committee first began working with the chamber of commerce on plans to re-beautify Orinda and restore some of its lost charm, interest in civic landscaping has grown," Mrs. Pollaczek said.

"Several markets have landscaped or are about to landscape their premises. Stores have followed suit."

And another year is nearing its close.

There has been a good deal of community activity in Orinda during 1958, and considerable has been accomplished by the always busy and active residents of this community.

As 1958 nears its finale, local citizens, naturally, ponder the hard work and efforts on behalf of the community by many Orindians.

THE QUESTION ARISES, as it does around this time each year: Who will be the Orinda Man (or Woman) of the Year for 1958?

Once again, The Sun is sponsoring the annual Orinda Man of the Year award. A committee of local citizens will be named soon to choose the person deemed to have contributed the most to the welfare of the community during 1958; prior years will also be taken into consideration.

The judges will be named soon. You can help them with your suggestions, although they can consider any local persons they wish for the honorary title. Although the award is sponsored by this paper, the selection is completely up to the judges.

THE JUDGES WILL welcome your suggestions. Send them to The Sun, P.O. Box 147, Orinda. Your recommendations will be turned over to the committee.

Announcement of the person chosen as the Orinda Man (or Woman) of the Year will be made in the January 2 issue of The Sun. Later this individual will receive a certificate from The Sun.

Pre-Holiday Mail Hours Designated

Christmas season hours for the Orinda Post Office, as announced by Postmaster Laura Mallory:

December 7 through December 24—Mondays through Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sundays, noon to 4 p.m.

Mail deadlines to assure pre-Christmas package delivery—Eastern states, December 7; other states, December 10; greeting cards, both local and other, December 15.

Over 4000 mimeographed notices listing post office hours and deadlines will be delivered to Orinda residents, she said.

"This plan resulted in wonderful cooperation last year," she noted, "easing our work load and giving patrons better service."

Very Unreliable Source Predicts Rain Next Week

Willie Longfeathers, our favorite weatherman, crawled out from under one of the remaining Pine Grove Trees, shaded his eyes with one hand from the glare of headlights, split a turkey wishbone with his squaw, Minabelle Teehee, and predicted rain next week.

"It will rain just enough," he said sagely, studying the short end of the wishbone while Minnie grinned broadly at her own long piece. "To enable the Orinda Beautifiers to get some tree planting done."

A tourist interrupted our interview by parking, climbing out of his car, and inquiring whether there was a night club with a good floor show anywhere in town.

After that Willie, who always dummies up before strangers, wouldn't say anything but "Ugh!"

Orinda's Man of Year--Who Will This Person Be?

EMILY BRUMBECK, 135 Jackson Way was injured when her car smashed into a telephone pole last Friday evening snarling commuter traffic. The accident happened just in front of the Lafayette Cemetery and was witnessed by

PH Boy, 13, Charged With Molestation of Young Girl

A 13-year-old boy was turned over to Contra Costa Juvenile authorities for allegedly committing lewd and lascivious acts against a 7-year-old Pleasant Hill girl.

The youth was apprehended by juvenile officers after he had been tentatively identified from a school year book by the girl.

JUVENILE authorities stated that the acts were reportedly committed on the grounds of Diablo Vista School and that this was the fourth occurrence of immoral acts in that general vicinity in the past month.

Alton Martindale, school principal, warned parents that school grounds are not supervised on Saturdays and Sundays and parents should not allow children to play on the premises.

Reportedly, similar incidents have occurred in the Pleasant Hill Park on Gregory Lane, just two blocks from Diablo Vista School.

The youth suspected of the acts is a student at Pleasant Hill Intermediate School, located next to the elementary school.

MEANWHILE in Lafayette, the Joseph Tancredy family of 3487 Silver Springs Road, returned from Chicago to find some $360 of men's jewelry burglarized from their home.

Sara Tancredy reported to sheriff's deputies that she had seen a man enter the house while the senior Tancredys were away, but thought it was another member of the family.

Reported missing were watches, wedding bands and other items of jewelry. Tancredy reported to the sheriff's office.

SPRINKLING YOUNG Christmas trees on Russell Farm in Bear Valley is Al Bianchi, superintendent. Exceptionally dry summer and fall made such watering necessary. Six-inch seedlings planted two years ago are now 6 and 7 feet high, ready to harvest.

HERE BIANCHI checks small tree that may be tinsel and lighted in another year. Christmas trees on Russell farm are first to be grown commercially in county. University of California agriculture experts think Russell's experimental plantation, planted at their request, may result in addition of important crop to county's agricultural production.

Christmas Tree Harvest Ready Here for 1st Time

Agriculture experts see the possibility of a new crop for western Contra Costa County farmers in the fact that Christmas trees have been brought into commercial production in the short space of two years on a Bear Valley farm.

Although there are some other growers of Christmas trees in California, they have never before been grown commercially in this county.

Two years ago A. S. Russell, owner for the past 23 years of a 500-acre ranch just over the hill-top on Happy Valley Road, took out pears and put in a 10-acre Christmas tree plantation.

OF 18,000 six-inch seedlings planted two years ago—all experimentally, many of them of varieties that haven't proved successful—3500 today are between 6 and 7 feet high, and ready to harvest.

This production was achieved, according to Al Bianchi, superintendent, despite heavy rains last winter which destroyed 5000 trees. This year, he said, they're prepared to help save trees from rain with drainage ditches.

Moreover, conifers are a crop in the true sense of the word, it was pointed out by Milton R. Bell, University of California farm advisor.

Properly cut, their stumps will produce trees again and again. Total production should increase from 15 to 20 per cent each year, Bianchi said.

THE SUCCESSFUL species turned out to be Arizona and Monterey cypress, popular in the deep South, but never before offered Californians, Russell noted.

Christmas trees are an important crop in Eastern Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and New York state," he said. Farmers there grow millions of them. But in the East it takes from six to 12 years to bring a tree from seedling to harvest.

"When I told a Michigan grower with 50,000 trees this summer that I'd raised 6 and 7 foot conifers in two years, he was shocked."

"Why, you'll put all of us out of business!" he exclaimed. RUSSELL ATTRIBUTED the greater rapidity of growth in California to more months of sunshine. In addition, his farm is fortunately located in that the Lafayette Hills above store up water and release it subterraneously.

Bell pointed out that soil on the Russell farm is acid rather than alkali, a happy environment for roots of Christmas trees. Such soil—and the necessary rainfall—is common to most of the valley between Walnut Creek and Berkeley, Bell said.

Russell's first year crop will be marketed only at retail, and he is considering setting up a lot in Walnut Creek as well as selling at the plantation. Prices will follow suggested U. S. Government standards: 50 cents a foot for premium ($3 for a 6-foot tree), 40 cents a foot for No. 1 grade, 30 cents a foot for No. 3.

Standards are based on uniformity of sides, length and closeness of branches.

FOR MOST OF the 23 years he's been a Bear Valley rancher—his chief business is the raising of Hereford cattle—Russell has been growing pine and fir trees with the idea of creating a park on his beautiful site.

"When the UC Agricultural Extension Office decided they'd like to see someone in Contra Costa experiment with Christmas trees," Bell explained, "He'd had more experience with conifers than anyone we knew. We asked him to try commercial growing on just a small scale."

"BUT AT FIRST he point-blank refused. He was growing trees for posterity, he said. The truth is that he loves trees so much that he couldn't bear the thought of growing them just to cut them down."

"It was actually a moral issue with him. It was several days before he called us and said he'd agree to conduct the experiment. You see, it's possible to let numerous trees on a plantation go on growing without ever harvesting them. Cutting out the trees between selected ones actually promotes their growth."

"The fact that he could grow trees for this generation and at the same time create a park for posterity was what finally weighed the balance in Russell's mind to go ahead with our suggestion."

TO REGROW TREES on the stump of one harvested, Bell said, it should be cut above the bottom whorl of branches. Those left slowly reach upward toward the sun. At the proper time, the best branch is selected, the others lopped off, and a new straight-trunked tree is created.

ENCROACHMENT of subdivisions has been rapidly decreasing pear acreage in the valley. Many one-time large acreages have been reduced to what Bell calls "jags."

R. R. Sanborn, the university extension office's pear expert, pointed out that marketing of small acreages is often difficult because of reluctance of canners to pick up small tonnages, and that unit expense of spraying and dusting goes up as acreage goes down.

But whether Christmas trees will replace pears to any great extent as a valley crop is doubtful in the opinion of both Sanborn and Bell.

WHERE PEAR production is low, Sanborn said, conifers might be planted instead. But he expects no major development in conifer replacement of pears.

"On the other hand, it's not likely that there will be much addition to the number of acres now devoted to pears in the valley," he said. "Most desirable land either has homes on it or is in walnuts."

"But that still leaves acreage that might be put into Christmas trees, increasing Contra Costa's agricultural crops. Hill sides where it would be hard to produce anything else at all could become Christmas tree plantations."

"FROM WHAT we have seen so far there's a good chance that soil and moisture conditions on the Russell plantation could be duplicated in a great many other places in the western part of the valley," said Bell, who represented the extension office in the Russell experiment.

"But we wouldn't advise anybody to jump into Christmas tree growing without giving the matter considerable study. We actually don't know yet if Russell will make money with trees."

"I certainly wouldn't encourage anyone to put 10 acres on which other crops could be grown into conifers. The best way to do it would be to make a trial on only one acre."

"Even Christmas trees, although they don't require as much care as fruit trees, take a certain amount of trimming so they won't grow up to be ugly ducklings."

Lest We Be Litterbugs

SIGHTS . . . Did you see all those hundreds of bundles of newspapers scattered hither & yon & blowing to the winds on your side of the Tunnel? Poor Guy! Somebody must have spent all day collecting them. Poor Guy! Somebody DID spend all of two days picking them up again, and not a trace of one littering the roadside could be found mid-week!

And we didn't mean to litter the highway ourselves. Honest! The door just flew open & out flew & blew ALL OVER (at the Village & Freeway intersection) hundreds of half-pieces of blank copy-paper. Our feedbag purse was rescued from the middle of the road by young Steve Bowles (of The Date Business Brothers) & his friend to whom we are now mailing a little reward w/a note begging them NOT to be so nice & chivalrous again at that spot. We were tempted to try to pick up the papers, but knew it was useless. Maybe YOU thought they were king-size snowflakes. Oh, you didn't? Oh!

CARTOON . . . A Very Little Boy walking into Black's, holding his little hands tight, tight, ooh, so tight around the limp long neck of a duck whose body, fine-feathered & footed, dragged on the floor behind him. . . .

MORE THAN SCUTTLEBUTT! The Stan Holmgrens assembled their clan, some coming from the East, for Turkey & Trimmings yesterday. . . . Tonight, the Ralph Ongs of Lafayette entertain at a buffet supper in honor of the holiday-homecoming of their son Don who is down from Oregon State. . . . The Charles Thomsons of Lafayette are hosting neighbors to a Sunday night social and the David Collamers did things up differently by taking off on a picnic yesterday. (That's California Thanksgiving for you . . . and we hope the sun DID shine!)

Toasts to Talents

THE PLAY'S THE THING . . . esp. when you beat the movies to it, like the Dramateurs have done w/Terrance Rattigan's "Separate Tables" playing NOW at the Lafayette Town Hall.

A Champagne Christening followed last Thurs. nite's preview. . . Many of the costumes from other productions on display, much talk of the re-decorating job being given the Big Barn Theater.

IN THE PLAY . . . Eleanor Silverman's smile & introductions opening the show. . . The stunning two-part stage (Victorian door arches, a lacy fireplace set w/a majestic mantle dividing the dual-rooms) the creation of Dick Robinson of the Golden Hind Theater (Still running The Boy Friend; by golly!) in Berkeley.

ENJOYING THE PREVIEW PARTY & Theater-in-the-Round The Charles Baakes, the H. K. Forsmans, both of Lafayette, the former Pres. of the town's Improvement Assoc., the latter Sec'y. & Treas. . . The John Lindbergs (he's Laf. Rotary pres.) among those surrounding the cast. Katie Genes taking the part Deborah Kerr has in the movie. . . Rita Hayworth's lines same as those learned by Dramateur long-playing Alice Swennen. . . Tish Wink-wink having the same part Wendy Hiller will play and if you know Jack Holder, wouldn't you say he's perfectly cast portraying the same part David Niven will have in the cinema? Most interesting of all is that Burt Lancaster's film portrayal is done dramatically, in color & live, by Pat O'Donnell, newly appointed sergeant in the WC police department.

OTHERS TOASTING local talents were Jane & Wyatt King, the Don Steele & Kenny Reynolds. . . Kenny, by the way, being greeted w/GALE of laughter when, all in good fun, he offered the Dramateurs a hundred dollar bill if they'd only BUY NEW SEATS!

Jean Henderson backstage on props. . . Charlotte Chapple, the Jim Hupps there. . . Stewart Wade, whose Orchard Nursery donated plants, being Thanked. . . Norm & Bee Betz introducing Larry

A Blowout—Three Times a Day.

WHEN JIM IRWIN had a birthday one recent Sunday, he got candles on his coffee cake in the morning, candles on his cookies for lunch, and still more candles on his real birthday cake at dinner. His kids' idea! (As if we have to be reminded THAT MUCH!)

HIGH ON THE HOG . . . One little man asked his mother what they were having for dinner, and all aglow & easy does it, she said, "We're having sirloin steak, honey". . . to which young man groaned & moaned "Oh, No! NOT AGAIN!"

The Jim Winfrees' young son Tom was taken to the SF MACY'S Toy Department where he was to have his pick of toys for a birthday present, his 8th. This is NO reflection on Macy's, but after looking & looking & looking & looking, he decided the toy he liked best was the Army Missile Thing he'd seen back here in our own Toy Life Shop.

CHRISTMAS CALENDAR . . . Don't forget the Towhee's Tinsel Tea, Dec. 2nd at Diablo. . . Tkts. available at door, $1.50. . . For sheer fun & beauty, plan to see the Festival of Trees at the Claremont Hotel, Dec. 3. . . And for artistic Christmas ideas, here's a Xmas House Tour sponsored by the Valley Art Center & slated for Tuesday, Dec. 9, 11-4. . . Three Happy Valley homes to visit—an old fashioned Christmas setting to prevail at the junior Ed Pike residence, a contemporary holiday to highlight the W. F. Funk home and the traditional family Christmas to be viewed at the James Moore menage where mulled cider will be served to tour-troopers. ## Christmas Bureau Is Working Hard

The Christmas Bureau of Central Contra Costa County is co-ordinating Christmas charity projects.

Many organizations are actively working to provide a happier Christmas for needy families in our community.

Wheel toys are being repaired by the Senior Citizens of Lafayette at the F. O. Rees home on Dewing Avenue in Lafayette.

"This group still needs more reusable bicycles, tricycles, tricks, wagons, scooters and other wheel goods," said Mrs. Richard Brooding, chairman of the Christmas Bureau.

She also stated that dolls are needed by Dollies, Inc. This group of volunteers repairs and dresses discarded dolls.

Pick up of toys and dolls can be arranged by calling Mrs. Raphael Henri. Dolls may be left at the Lafayette Fire Station on Moraga Road.

Individuals and organizations can help the Christmas Bureau by cash contributions which will be used for food, shoe orders and clothing, by contributions of canned goods and new toys, and by notifying the Bureau of needy families in Central Contra Costa County.

Don't monkey with your electric wiring---DON'T DO IT YOURSELF, because:

1. If you monkey with your electric wiring, you cancel your fire insurance policy if anything goes wrong---most policies have a clause that covers this.
2. You may easily get killed---It takes a qualified electrician, with many years of electrical education and experience, to handle electricity safely.
3. You are not likely to save any money---the cost of buying wrong materials, plus the cost of leftover materials, usually runs more than a safe, professional wiring job.

Bowles Wins High Rank

Eagle Scout Robert Bowles of Explorer Post 300 will receive Exploring's highest award at a court of honor December 2 at the Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church.

Robert became an Eagle Scout in June, 1957, while a member of troop 200. The Silver-Award, being discontinued January 1, has been earned by less than 2 percent of boys in scouting.

Ray van Tassel, advancement chairman for Meridian District, says the award is being discontinued nationally because so few earn it—probably because it is too difficult.

Far less than one scout out of 1000 ever achieves both Eagle and silver awards. Robert is the only one of over 4000 district scouts to receive both awards so far this year.

However, one other eagle scout passed tests and may receive this silver award before its discontinuation.

McBrien Succeeds Desmond Teeter Monday as County's Administrator

Joseph P. McBrien will succeed County Administrator Desmond Teeter Monday, the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors announced Tuesday in Martinez.

McBrien will fill the post of Teeter who will retire after more than 30 years of service with the county.

THE PROMOTION was actually decided by the supervisors last March when Teeter announced his plans to retire and recommended that McBrien take over the post at $1500 per month.

McBrien, 48, has been an assistant to Teeter for nearly a year.

At the same time, the board declared that Assistant Administrator Robert Van Noord, take the position now held by McBrien, Van Noord's pay will be increased to $1100 per month.

Also at Teeter's suggestion, the board decided to abolish the second assistant's post (now held by Van Noord) as of Monday. This will require an amendment to the county civil service ordinance.

TEETER STATED that only one position on his staff remains unfilled—that of associate analyst. "We are attempting to recruit for that position now," he said.

Teeter, who is 65, has been honored at a series of memorial gatherings in recent months. The most recent was a luncheon given Tuesday by the Contra Costa County Employees Association at a Martinez restaurant.

Association President George McClure presented Teeter with a camera lightmeter and paid tribute to him as "a model of integrity and dependability."

PRESENT WITH association board members and Association Manager James Harley were County Supervisors W. G. Buchanan, Mel Nielsen, Ray S. Taylor and Joseph Silva. Board of Supervisors Chairman Lynn T. Goyak was in Washington, D.C., attending a national conference on air pollution.

McBrien has been familiar with Contra Costa problems for some time. Before he became an assistant county administrator he prepared a number of reports on various aspects of Contra Costa County government, as a representative of Public Service Administration of Chicago.

DURING the discussion Tuesday on McBrien's promotion, Teeter told the supervisors that the $1,500 monthly salary for the administrator position was modest compared to several other counties' pay for the same position.

He cited the following monthly salaries for county administrators: Alameda, $2055; Fresno, $1571; Diablo Freeway, $1967; San Diego, $1986; Santa Clara, $2511; San Mateo, $1872.

Bergesen Family Gathers To Greet Norwegian Kin

A young Norwegian named Bergesen paid a surprise visit to Lafayette this week and 50 of his relatives gathered to "skool" him with cups of black coffee.

Most of them were, or had been, named Bergesen, although some of the women had lost that patronym through marriage.

The visitor was Steinar Knutsen, 18, a deck boy who arrived in Wilmington Saturday aboard a Norwegian vessel.

That day Mrs. Delbert Stults of Lafayette, his cousin, received a call from Norway's consul in Los Angeles, informing her of Knutsen's arrival.

MR. AND MRS. STULTS and their relatives, the Morris Bergesens of Happy Valley, drove to Los Angeles, picked up the young sailor, and brought him to Lafayette.

The telephone lines got warm as word of his arrival went out to Bergesens across the Bay Area.

All of them gathered at the Bergesen home at 4025 Tilden Lane.

Those present included, in addition to the Stults and Morris Bergesens, without mentioning all the cousins of the younger generation, the following aunts, uncles, and reasonably close cousins:

Gustav Bergesen, Oakland; the Messrs. and Mesdames Dave Bergesen, San Francisco; Gus Bergesen, San Bruno; Stanley Bergesen, Lafayette; Skip Bergesen, Walnut Creek; Raymond Bergesen, Concord; Bert Bergesen, Walnut Creek, and Stan Bergesen, Millbrae, with their children.

Knutsen knew he had relatives in Lafayette because he'd read a note sent to his hometown paper in Bergen by Mrs. Stults.

She had a little difficulty in conversing with him, although he'd studied English in high school, and her father was born in Norway.

"Both of use kept thumbing away at our Norwegian-English dictionaries," she said.

Knutsen Tuesday night flew back to Los Angeles to board his ship.

'Beat' Party Story False

A 16-year-old Acalanes High School girl admitted to sheriff's department deputies yesterday that her story of done parties on the "beatnick" level and her alleged injections of heroin were fabrications.

She said that the story was made up to cover up a late date, which her parents had forbidden. She had marked her arm to make it appear that needles had been used.

She was picked up in the Berkeley Hills and taken to Juvenile Hall last week.

Also arrested was a 20 year-old Orinda youth, who has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

She had been reported missing from home on the night of November 18.

Christmas Club Checks: $81,988

First Western Bank and Trust Company has completed the mailing of 515 Christmas Club checks totaling $81,988 to residents of the Lafayette area, representing 1958 club savings, according to Thomas E. Latimer, assistant vice president and manager of the bank's Lafayette office.

Also arrested was a 20 year-old Orinda youth, who has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

She had been reported missing from home on the night of November 18.

Santa Arrives
At Capwell's
'North Pole'

Santa will be on hand, and little children will be on his knee, at Capwell's in the Broadway Shopping Center.

Santa's Helpers will be on hand, pictures will be taken and the entire spirit of Christmas will start to bloom today as "Santa Claus Comes To Town."

JOHN TAGUE, manager of Capwell's, Santa's publicity manager, informed the Sun today that Santa would be in his North Pole House on the third floor of Capwell's every day until Christmas.

Not only Tague said, will Santa be on hand during the days, but Santa will be here at Capwell's during the evenings, too.

Santa will be on hand (or knee which ever term you prefer) from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. during night openings.

To make sure that everybody can get to place orders with Santa, Tague noted, Santa will be at his North Pole House until 8:30 on December 1-4-5 and December 8 through 12, December 15 through 19 and December 22 and 23.

FOR THE SECOND year pictures taken of the youngsters with Santa will be in color, Tague said.

"And for all the do-it-yourselfers, Capwell's has set aside a very special section devoted to the 'Trim-A-Home Shop,'" Tague commented.

"Between the candy and gin-

Toy Departments
Open Throughout
Walnut Creek

Toy departments throughout Walnut Creek are now stocked to the rooftops with tons and tons of extra special wares for those favorite youngsters in your life.

Smith, for example, Hark Glass pointed out, is celebrating the opening of its toy department.

WILLIAM SCHATZ of Smith's noted that there would be some of Santa's Helpers on hand to help with the selection of gifts for the many lucky youngsters who would be visited by Santa himself this year.

Glass and Schatz both urged teen-agers and youngsters to come in and see them for those special extra gifts for Mom and Dad.

And, everywhere in Walnut Creek it's the same.

CAPWELL'S, Penneys, Sears, Birdie's Toy House and many many others have either enlarged or opened toy departments to help make this a truly Merry, Merry Christmas.

When you shop at home you help yourself and your community.

There's Plenty of Parking
In the City, Says Webster

There's plenty of parking in Walnut Creek, 2200 spaces in the Broadway Shopping Center alone, George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Committee, stated.

"Why, if one shopping center parking lot is a little crowded, you can always go to another one," he continued.

"There's plenty of parking behind Joseph Magnin, behind Capwell's, over toward the new city parking lot and through out the downtown area because of the many new streets and parking areas," Webster stated.

"In all there is not one section of Walnut Creek that does not have plenty of parking nearby,"

Webster noted.

"There's parking during the day and nights, too. Why not plan to make shopping a family affair in the future?" he concluded.

2-Day Broadway Festival
Are Today and Tomorrow

Traditionally two of the biggest shopping days in the Broadway Center are Friday, November 28 and Saturday, November 29, according to Farrel Robinson, manager of Penney's in the Broadway Shopping Center.

"This two-day celebration of merchandising will be unsurpassed because we are completely stocked for Christmas and are ready to insure that this merchandise moves," he continued.

Not only will Penney's be in on the swing of things, he stated, but other participating stores in the Two-Day value packed festival, such as Goldman's, Smith, Capwells, Grodins, Joseph Magnin and others will be joining with is to present real values.

This two-day sale is just the beginning, however, to a landslide of values from now until Christmas, he commented.

Stores in the Broadway Shopping Center will be open every night until 9 starting December 4, Robinson stated.

"Stores will be open Monday night until 9 to give the whole family a chance to come down and shop together in the Broadway Shopping Center," Robinson concluded.

Bad Weather No Problem With Modern Raincoats

The weather rarely gets so bad that a fellow can't wear a raincoat. This is the sort of statement calculated to produce a double-take, but the facts about the new fall and winter raincoats seem to back it up, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear.

In the old days the penetrating cold and damp of fall and winter were far too much for the so-called weather-proofs to cope with. Some men tried to "make-do" with a raincoat squeezed on over a topcoat or overcoat, but these makeshifts were cumbersome, bulky and rarely very effective.

Nowadays a fellow can zip in a liner made of wool or one of the man-made fleecy fabrics and convert his handsome "rainster" into a more effective foul-weather garment.

Some of these coats and liners are made in practical wash-wear constructions. Both the coat and the liner can be washed, hung up to dry, and worn without pressing or any appreciable loss of water repellency. In order to complete the conversion from warm to cold weather, some of the new coats also have a detachable fleece collar.

Once the rainwear makers got the idea that their coats could be good looking as well as serviceable, there was no end to the style ideas they incorporated in their garments.

For example, there are raincoats styled for business wear, sportswear, motoring and evening wear. Among the most popular are the dark iridescent shades. These coats with the glint of fashion come in blues, grays, bronzes, browns and greens.

Texture is Big News In Women's Fashions

Texture is the big winter fabric news. Fashion's simple lines allow for added interest, and this has been brilliantly supplied by new and luxurious ideas in fabrics.

The three-dimensional look is favored and, more often than not, it's achieved with mohair.

Loops of mohair woven into wool shows up everywhere in a variety of treatments adding depth, sheen and soft, spongy feel. Lofty looped variations stress the light-as-a-feather, flufffy quality.

Liked, too, are brushed surfaces and those with loops laid flat or incorporated in the weaves.

New arrival on the fashion scene is reindeer hair. It's often used as added surface interest for mohair and wool combinations. Besides mohair and reindeer hair, rabbit hair, fur and even ground goose feathers are employed to give a softer, more luxurious feel to fabrics.

Betty Proclaims (Again) She'll Christmas Shop Early

BY BETTY

I can hardly believe that Christmas is almost here. It seems like just a few days ago that we were all seated around last year's Christmas tree with a warm fire glowing on the hearth, opening our presents.

Strangely enough I'm really looking forward to this Christmas because I'm going to take care of all my Christmas chores early.

I SAY THAT every year, but this year, I mean it! I'm ahead of the game already. You see, I went down to the Broadway Shopping Center and did some of my Christmas browsing. I went to most of the stores and never have I seen such an array of marvelous merchandise.

AT ELSIE'S SPORTSWEAR there are some of the most beautiful sweaters and sportswear items I have seen, while at Grande's Shoes I saw those ever-popular "Gliders," the cowhide slippers.

Music Town offers some wonderful Hi Fi sets and stereo systems. I really should have my husband tell you of the technical aspects of the equipment. All I know is that they look so good and sound so good.

MY EYES ALMOST popped out of my head when I saw diamond watch bracelets at Davidson & Licht. While I was in the store, I met Carleton Licht, manager and one of the family.

Did you know that he and his wife just had another child? Yes, a baby boy. Waiting at home for the new baby were the Lichts' two daughters.

After pampering myself long enough, I decided to drop by Gro-dins to see those two-pants suits

I've heard so much about. They certainly are handsome looking and priced so low, too.

AT SHERMAN-CLAY, I saw the cutest musical lamb I have ever seen. They are featured in soft white or black plush and are just darling. Really, every child should find one of these under their tree.

Sears has done it again with one of their best value items. A sewing machine, brand new at that, priced better than most rebuilt machines. On top of that, Sears throws in the case and accessories for free. I said hello to the new manager, Wes Hester.

I was in the market for some bright, fresh looking things for my daughter and at Klad-ezee and Pony Tail Shop for Sub-teens I saw some wonderful apparel.

A STORYBOOK HEROINE dress with bishop sleeves and cameo neckline—it's washable, too. The colors: red and green.

I was tempted to pamper myself more than once during my tour of the Broadway Shopping Center.

At Penney's they have a splendid selection of robes. The one that caught my eye was a nylon model with peter pan collar, in lace with satin piping and trimmed collar.

It features one of those popular back yokes which was trimmed, too. It comes in pastels of pink, blue, hot pink and aqua.

THE ROBE IS on the main floor just next to the hose department, where incidentally, there are some outstanding bargains.

If you're planning to brighten up your house for Christmas, as I am, you should drop into Jackson's, Walnut Creek. The most beautiful combination of styling and comfort in a sofa that I have ever seen is now on display.

Its a four cushion sofa, eight-foot in length!

Just the thing to have (I've got to drop a hint to my husband on this one.) is a beautiful waltz-length gown of nylon tulle with net and lace trim at the bodice and hem at Goldman's. It is featured in pastels and white, too. KORT SEPARATES are the by-word these days at Capwell's and they are smart. There's nothing quite like their fur blend sweaters.

Yes, the Christmas spirit is certainly prevalent when you tour so many merchandise-filled stores and shops.

I was a little worried about the boys' gifts. I did want to get them something sensible and I found just the right thing at Smiths.

Boys' Hickok gift sets with leather belts, cuff links, tie bar and the like. In fact, one of the jewelry sets features the boy's own name on the cuff links and tie bar.

Sterling Furniture has just put on display its new line of furniture. "Expression."

Every item is matched and each has antiqued copper in inlaid medallions and drawer pulls. I was very pleased to have this new line shown to me.

Joseph Macin has just started its "Christmas Parade" and you'll enjoy the beautiful gifts on display! There're jewelry and accessories, fashions and colors, all at Macin's.

OF COURSE, we have to think also of feeding family and friends over the holidays and just next door to JM is the place to do your holiday shopping: Lucky Food Store.

The most particular taste (and I've got some pretty particular eaters at my house) can be pleased by Lucky.

Well, I saw just about everything that I will be needing during my shopping tour of Broadway. I know you'll find everything there, too.

Broadway Open Monday Night Next Week

English Family Makes American Dream True

By BILL HINES

The Horatio Alger "Rags to Riches" story is still more than a legend in these United States. Not that 34-year-old Tony Master and his family, recent immigrants from England, are now millionaires, or that they were in rags when they arrived in Lafayette last April.

They had a 1950 Chevy, a trailer-load of household goods, energy instilled by sight of a new country, and exactly $50.

Today they are buying a $16,950 home with a swimming pool at 781 Moraga Road. It will be worth more than that when Master, a carpenter, has finished remodeling.

In addition, both Tony and his wife, Jana, have jobs, TV set, sewing machine, central heating in the rented house they presently occupy at 925 Oak Road in Lafayette, and hot water right from the tap, none of which they had in their home in Norwich, England.

How do you pyramid $50 into all these appurtenances to pleasant living with three youngsters to support?

By visiting Las Vegas?

Tony shook his head. "No. You have to have an income, of course. Then it's a matter of careful, frugal living."

He was a fairly successful manufacturer of water skis in Norwich, exporting them to 29 countries, including the United States, Thailand, and Iran, where the Shah's wife herself was a customer.

BUT TONY and a partner didn't see eye-to-eye.

"And the general situation in England was getting on top of me," as Tony put it.

In addition, North America represented, as it did to Europeans generations ago, a land of opportunity.

The Masters arrived in Ontario in August, 1957, and tried to settle down in a small apartment. Mrs. Masters got a job first, working nights in a hospital.

Tony ultimately went to work in a sheet metal shop. Five weeks later he was laid off. After a long time, he found a job in another sheet metal shop. Six weeks later, another layoff.

"We'd known Bob and Heather Krohn in England," Tony said.

They came to the United States five years ago, and settled in Lafayette. We'd always kept in touch with them. Their letters warned us about the recession, but we came to Lafayette anyway."

THE KROHNS live at 3368 Johnson Road in Relex Valley. Krohn recently passed a citizenship examination, and will take an oath of allegiance next month.

"So we really had something more than $50 when we arrived," Tony continued. "We had some friends. We stayed with them for a month."

In a way, the success stories of both Master and Krohn hinges on the incident of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Saunders of Lafayette having made a trip to London several years ago.

Krohn, a policeman who had been in the RAF, asked for an introduction to Saunders through a mutual friend. Krohn, like Master years later, felt that there was "no future" for him in England.

SAUNDERS AGREED to sponsor Krohn's entry into the United States, which meant that he guaranteed him a temporary job with Air Reduction Sales, Emeryville. Saunders is vice president.

When Krohn heard that the Masters were pinched in the pocketbook in Ontario, he called on Saunders and asked him to sponsor their entry into the United States. Saunders did so.

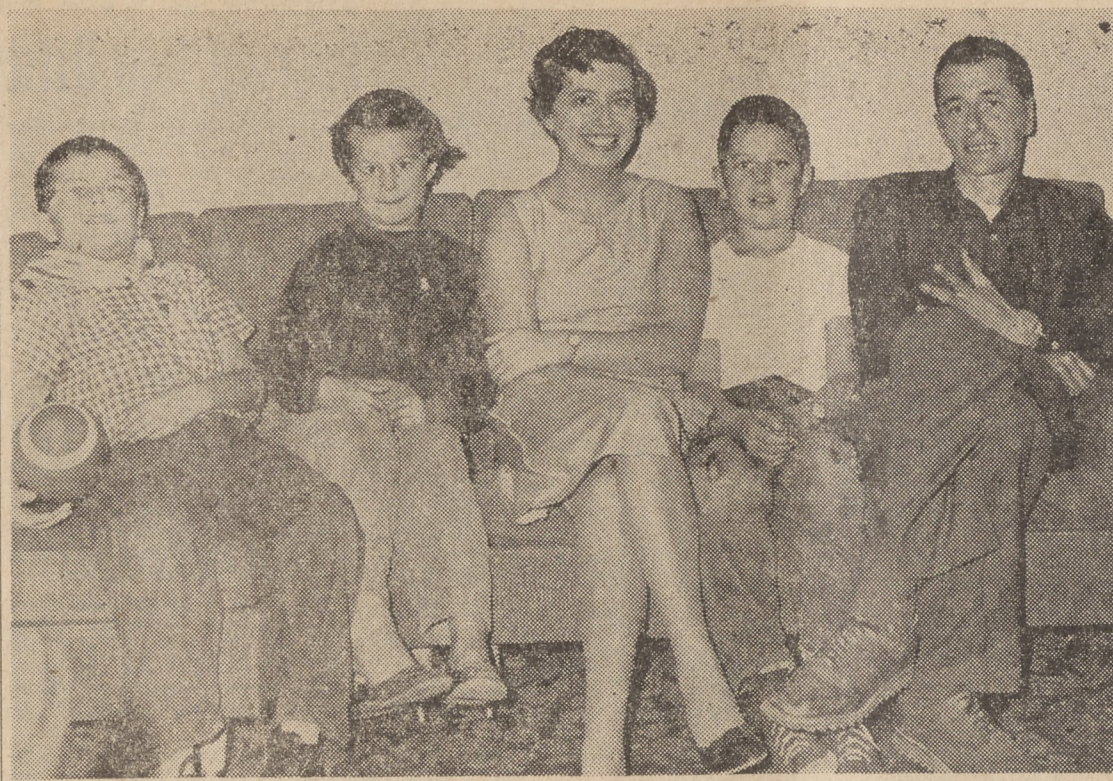

"We owe a lot to both the Krohns and Mr. Saunders," Tony said.

After arriving in Lafayette, Tony joined the Carpenters Brotherhood, and almost immediately got work with R. F. Johnson & Son, El Cerrito, and helped build homes in Lafayette and Orinda.

LAI D OFF by Johnson after three months, he lost only 2 1/2 hours work before getting a job with Floyd Parkin, remodeling Lafayette homes. Now he's employed by William Beckett & Co. on Orinda residential construction.

Mrs. Master had been gone to work almost as soon as they arrived, as an assistant in Dr. Standish J. Watson's office in Walnut Creek.

Last week Master saw a classified ad placed by real estate agent Ted Barcelona in The Sun

MEET THE FAMILY of Tony Master, right, English-born immigrant who arrived in Lafayette last April with only $50, an old car, a few household goods. Now he and his wife, Jana, center, have good jobs, and are purchasing home with swimming pool. They'll move in after Christmas. Their youngsters, from left, are Paul, 8; Ann, 6, and Peter, 11.

Shopping News and the four Sun subscription newspapers. Headlined "Handyman's Paradise," the ad said:

"OVER 1600 sq. ft. of living area nestled among large oak trees on 1/2 acre. The house needs remodeling but there's a real honest to gosh filtered swimming pool to keep cool in. The setting is enchanting and the terms are flexible. Occupancy January 1. $16,950. Shown by appointment only."

"It was just what we wanted," Tony said. "Mr. Barcelona helped us complete financial details right away." The family will move in after Christmas.

In Norwich the Masters lived in what Tony described as "a small cottage." Water had to be pumped and heated for laundry, dishwashing and baths.

They had no automobile, and their scale of living was "most modest."

"WE HAVE MORE money left over after necessities are paid for than we ever dreamed possible in England," Tony said.

"There, 50 per cent of our pay packet went for food. Here, it's about 20 per cent."

Tony is enrolled in an evening adult education class at Acalanes High School, studying public speaking under Sherwood Knight. He also attends a night class in construction superintendency at Diablo Valley Junior College, with Homer Oles as instructor.

"I never did things like that in England," Tony commented, laughing a little, as if slightly puzzled at his own ambition.

"There's just something about this country that makes you want to get ahead."

THIS WEEK he put a classified ad of his own in The Sun, offering his services as a structural analyst to any person interested in buying a home. He'll check construction and other details, give a written report.

Peter, 11, was a big help in supplying dates and facts during

The Sun's interview with his father.

Peter's enthusiastic about Lafayette School, where his brother Paul, 8, and sister Ann, 6, are also students.

"In Norwich there was just a one-room village school," Peter said, already proudly American.

Your local merchant shops at home too. When you support him, the money stays in the community and we all benefit.

Creation of two group insurances, revamping of the organization's weekly, successful work in the field of building code regulations and planning for new headquarters building and better facilities are some of the pending projects.

Christmas Seal Contributions Now Pouring Into Offices of TB Unit

Christmas Seal contributions are pouring into the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association's offices in Pleasant Hill. Volunteer workers have opened 5019 envelopes with contributions to the association's year round fight against TB in the first week of the annual campaign.

Dr. C. H. Hart, Christmas Seal Sale chairman, today said $11,093.96 has been received in early returns counted this past week. We are very pleased with the generous response from all over the county. This is a favorable sign of the residents of Contra Costa County's awareness of the tuberculosis problem and an approval stamp of the program of work of the TB Association.

"We want to thank the over 1600 volunteers who have helped to get the Christmas Seals in the mail and who are continuing to work with the counting of money and recording of receipts," he said.

According to Mrs. Francis Murphy of Pleasant Hill, county volunteer chairman, the following volunteers have worked in the association's office this past week:

Mrs. Barbara Sengenitto, Mrs. Marion Corder, Mrs. Yolanda Salsbury, all of Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Sybil Miner, Mrs. Joan Crane, Mrs. Louise A. Dehn, Mrs. June Terry, Mrs. Mirella Giusi and Mrs. Helen Hansen, all of Walnut Creek.

Funds for the sale of Christmas Seals are used for medical research, casefinding, rehabilitation and services to the TB patients, and for health education.

Ingalls Elected State Realtors' VP

Al Ingalls, Walnut Creek realtor, was elected regional vice president of the California Real Estate Association at the state convention in San Francisco.

Ingalls is president of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board for 1958. He will assume the regional office next year.

He will be installed in San Jose in January.

ABOUT 30 realtors of the central county attended the state convention, which lasted more than a week.

Also, Wayne Bailey, Board executive vice president, spoke at a meeting of the Women's Council of the National Association.

The National Association meeting was also held in San Francisco, last week.

Ingalls was the local boards voting delegate at the national convention. About 20 realtors from this area attended the national session.

They include the following: RAY HENRY, Bill Hayward and Mrs. Hayward, Bert Daniels, Harlan Geldermann, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, Martin Edwards, Harry Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Gilbert, Phil Dirks, Carl Bryant, Ken Richardson, Charles Bailey, Marvin Roth, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carter, Jack Wolverton.

Jack Weightman, King Parker Jr., Bill Riggs, Betty McGinley, Clarence Gribbon.

Fred Kracke of the General Contractors Association, M. G. Hoskins, Mrs. Ruberta Pearce.

Other realtors and salesmen also attended.

Baldwin to Speak At St. Andrews

John Baldwin, Congressman, will address St. Andrew's Men, in Pleasant Hill, Tuesday.

Following the group's monthly dinner at the church, 1601 Mary Drive, he will speak on "A Day in the Life of a Congressman."

St. Andrew's Men is headed by Max Takkebos. The 7 o'clock dinner will be prepared and served by members of St. Charles' Circle of the Women's Association of the church.

Guy Spencer to Head County Cancer Campaign

Guy F. Spencer of 2065 Riviera, Walnut Creek, has been named as county-wide chairman for the next cancer crusade by Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, president of the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society.

Spencer, well-known throughout the county for his work in recent years in support of the cancer society, accepted the appointment upon his return from five months in Europe where he and Mrs. Spencer visited 21 countries and principalities.

"I am happy to serve as crusade chairman this year for our county because I feel that this will be a key year for research advances upon the disease," Spencer said.

HE NOTED that Contra Costa County's crusade last spring contributed more than $35,000 to the $201,916 in medical research grants awarded today to the University of California and Stanford University, among other research grants made by the national office of the cancer society.

The new crusade chairman pointed out that mouse and man, worm and wasp, pig and even protozoa are some of the 28 living things used in the American Cancer Society's nation-wide research program.

"Scientists rely the most in 180 current projects—on man; next comes the mouse, now being used in 139 studies, and there is even a honeybee helping one scientist in his search for facts that may save the quarter of a million Americans now dying each year of cancer," Spencer said.

"Who knows but in the next scientific breakthrough, the honeybee may hold an answer to cancer," Spencer averred.

BUT UNTIL the breakthrough, he said, half of those with cancer can now be cured if treated promptly, and therefore the cancer society urges all persons to have an annual physical examination, plus maintaining an alert watch individually for the seven danger signals of the disease.

Spencer has headed the cancer crusade in the county for the past two fiscal years and is a member of the executive board of directors of the county society.

Before his retirement in 1954, he was Chief of the Central Fire District and for 33 years with the district which includes Walnut Creek and 32 square miles surrounding.

Prizes Awarded Hula Hoopers

The Hula Hoop contest conducted recently by the Boero Sports Shop proved there is considerable interest in the whirligig contraption, especially among the youngsters at least.

Young contestants turned out by scores to participate in this popular event.

To the winners went prizes consisting of athletic equipment. In the first group ranging in ages from five to eight years, first prize was captured by Nancy Carney age 7 of 25 Via Los Ninos, second prize went to Laura Dulaney age 9 of 427 Crest Avenue, and third prize was awarded Bob Heinatz, age 5 of 721 Hilton Road.

In the second group, ages from nine to twelve, first prize went to Kathy Carney of 25 Via Los Ninos, second place to Connie Dulaney of 427 Crest Avenue, and third prize was awarded Jackie Gifford of 1206 Juanita Drive. Runners up were John Templer, 230 Summit Road, and Daryl Hutchins, 210 Summit Road.

Drive carefully. Many of our roads wind through the hills, and there are many small children playing in the area. An accident could be tragic.

Cerebral Palsy Society Meets

The Contra Costa Cerebral Palsy Society held its November meeting Tuesday at Shadelands School. Following the general business meeting there was an address by Don Mussen who spoke on his life.

Parents and friends were urged to bring canned goods to the meeting for the Christmas baskets to be distributed by the society.

There will be no general meeting of the society in December. However there will be a children's Christmas party December 14 at the Monte Gardens School from 2 to 4 p.m. for members and families of the society.

Santa will have gifts for children provided their names reach Mrs. Gloria Sciacqua, chairman, 3784 West Mosswood Drive, Lafayette by Monday.

United Church Women to Hold Meet, Tuesday

The United Church Women of Central Contra Costa County will hold a Quiet Day and Spiritual Retreat on Tuesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

They will meet in the chapel at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1924 Trinity Avenue, Walnut Creek.

Dr. Gladys Falshaw will be the leader for this Quiet Day.

She is known throughout the United States as a retreat leader although her activities are many and varied and include meditations, quiet days, instructions for healing services and schools of prayer.

Before coming to the United States, Dr. Falshaw had more than 20 years of experience in India, combating illiteracy, starvation and juvenile delinquency.

Since her arrival in the United States five years ago, she has been acquainting Americans with the desperate need of Indian people, and has conducted prayer missions and has spoken at the Sunday services of many churches and cathedrals.

Her chief interest is in helping others to rediscover the rich heritage of our faith and she has been a pioneer of the healing ministry of the church undertaken under orthodox auspices.

Born in Manchester, England, Dr. Falshaw received her education there and at the University of Paris, where she was awarded the distinguished Doctor of Literature degree.

Later she went to India under the auspices of the Congregational church to work among the untouchables in a center which served 150 villages.

In the humid climate of South

India, the noted Englishwoman counseled on health, sanitation and taught, among other duties. This meeting is open to all interested women. Those attending are asked to bring a box lunch, coffee and tea will be provided.

Scout Dinner Is Planned

Tickets for the 48th Annual Recognition Dinner of the Mt. Diablo Council, Boy Scouts of America, are available at the headquarters office at 2040 Fourth Street, Berkeley.

Tickets are also available through the Scout Executive serving each of the seven Districts of the Council.

Len Fenstermacher of El Cerrito, chairman of the Reservations Committee, has announced that all tickets must be purchased by December 8. They are priced at $3 each.

Drive carefully. Many of our roads wind through the hills, and there are many small children playing in the area. An accident could be tragic.

Realtors, Unit Aid Industry Land Sales

A sketch of a "Contra Costa success story" was offered this week by Industrial Brokers, Inc., realtors of the central county. R. E. Wadsworth of Orinda, president, said:

"Several years ago some of the brokers were shooting the breeze about the future growth of our area, particularly Contra Costa County.

"One pointed out the success of the Multiple Listing Service of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board in its cooperative work in the development of a clearing house as the most effective effort of an industry in serving the needs of a locality and its people for residential property.

"To support this rapid growth of residential building, we must have payrolls; and this focused our attention on the industrial development of the area and the possibility of using similar activity in the servicing of the industrial needs of the community.

long enough for the smaller homes." Wadsworth continued, "Land suitable for industrial development may be available for years and is developed on a program covering engineering, drainage, tractage suitable for a specific purpose.

"Thus it seemed advisable to unite into a closely knit unit where each would feel free to discuss any and all information on any particular property, which would not be possible in a large open meeting.

"Industrial Brokers, Inc. have now been operating for nearly two years, and have participated in the sale of several million dollars worth of property, and now has in its listing library information on hundreds of pieces of industrial property together with valuable exclusive listings throughout the state of California.

"We maintain a prospect file and provide other invaluable services to our members many of which would be unobtainable by an individual. We think this is quite a success story. We believe in the future growth of Contra Costa County.

Meet the new baby.

It's quite an honor for a Little Porker to be selected for Emil Villa's Barbecue Pit. Only about one in ten qualify. You see—Mr. Villa is very fussy about the size of the ribs he barbecues. They must be small and meaty and from nice Iowa farms where there's plenty of golden corn in their diet! However, if you like something besides barbecued spare ribs, you're in for a treat when you order the chicken, the beef, the pork or the steaks—all barbecued to masterful perfection in Emil Villa's unique hardwood pits which give rich smoky flavor to the choicest meats money can buy.

The Toasts
Of the Town
Find 'FUN'

BY THE DINER

Emil Villa's Barbecue Pit is really the talk of the town now with the master chef serving his own popular variety of smoked, wonderfully seasoned, hickory flavored, ribs to folks from both sides of the tunnel.

At Emil Villa's there is something really different in the air and that's the sweet smelling hardwoods and ribs which come off the barbecue.

WHY, EVERY time Emil walks by, a new batch of sweet wood goes into the fire with his own particular brand of barbecue sauce.

Emil's wife, Arvilla, officiated over the opening ceremonies recently when city and county officials gave their nod of approval to the premises.

The official opening of the popular night spot was done in traditional style.

A bottle of barbecue sauce was broken at the corner of the building. Most impressive, tasty, too. AMONG THE MANY notables dining yesterday at Larry Blake's Gaslight House in Walnut Creek were the Quentin Reynolds, Wallace Whites, Frank R. Harts, W. R. Johnsons and Miss Betty Johnson.

Of course, they all celebrated their Thanksgiving with plump turkeys basted to perfection in Larry's inimitable way.

Vance Marshall will be on hand with piano favorites tomorrow night along with Lindo and Tiny behind the bar mixing potions.

By the by overheard in the back room of the Gaslight House were Larry and Skip Howell planning Sunday morning "Fizz Parties."

There's a good idea to start a real relaxing day. FROM USHER at Grauman's million dollar theater, in Los Angeles in the early days of the cinema and stage show presentations — thence to an advertising representative for breweries in the Bay area.

With a background such as this, one individual has managed to capitalize on the experience with considerable success.

The individual is Marie of the Stirrup Cup, 2725 North Main in Walnut Creek. Interesting conversation flows freely among customers when Marie relates her unusual and fascinating stories.

YOU SHOULD HAVE seen all the wonderful people at John Crosetti and Joe Bernardi's Wagon-Ho yesterday. And talk about a Thanksgiving meal, WOW!

But not everybody likes turkey, so Johnnie and Joe had an ample supply of their marvelous prime rib. Here is really a meal that you can rave about.

We're going down to the Wagon-Ho tomorrow night and we'll tell you about all the folks we see at the popular night spot and cocktail lounge next time around.

MORE THAN 80 workers and officials of the Union Oil Company at Oleum turned out last Friday at Paul's Place in Martinez to honor George Stewart, 30-year employee of the refinery. Stewart, who lives at 2924 E. cleson Street in Walnut Creek, was presented with the customary award for veteran employees nearing retirement.

It was the second Union Oil banquet in two weeks at Paul's, an office group of about 20 held their annual party the previous Friday.

Office employees of the Johns Manville Company at Pittsburg also held a dinner party for about 30 the same evening.

A SPECIAL INVITATION has been posted on the welcome board at Mel's extra modern Walnut Room by Master Mixologists Jim Degan, Roger Chase and Jerry Schinder.

The boys, along with manager Norm Suth, invite all the folks down to Mel's between 2-5 for "cocktail hour."

Here's a good chance to get in on the free eats, and have your favorite cocktail at a reduced price. If it's relaxing you're after you'll find it in Mel's with a stereo sound system and color TV.

This is the place we put in a word for ourselves in urging all the fine restaurant owners and bar keepers in the area to get in touch with The Diner at The Sun to let us know what's happening around town.

We'll be dropping in to see you.

Here's A Problem That We Needn't Be Thankful For...

A very serious situation faces the residents of our unincorporated areas—one of which most residents may be unaware.

The situation is this: Nobody is empowered to cite motorists on our county roads for traffic violations, unless those violations involve a felony or drunken driving.

Of course, this does not apply to the state highways and federal interstate routes, such as Mt. Diablo Boulevard, where the California Highway Patrol does an excellent job.

YOUR FIRST QUESTION may well be, "What about the Contra Costa County Sheriff's Office? They have patrol cars covering the county all the time don't they?"

The answer is yes, they have, but they cannot give "traffic tickets."

The reason for this is very simple—state law.

We are a general law county, and according to the law, the sheriff is not entitled to spend county funds for traffic patrol work. He can give citations for drunk driving, or for felony actions, but cannot give misdemeanor citations.

This means that people can speed up and down your street and mine, with little regard for the safety of our children, and the sheriff's office can't do a thing about it.

SIMILARLY, the highway patrol is limited to state highways (except for a jurisdiction extending to a certain distance to each side, but this is negligible).

So what we have, in effect, is hundreds of miles of roads which are not patrolled for ordinary traffic violations. It means you have no protection against what can be very dangerous actions.

What can we do about it? Obviously, the law should be changed, and this will take action on the part of our senator and assemblyman. There will undoubtedly be great hue and cry from general law county sheriffs throughout the state at this suggestion, but there really shouldn't be.

The primary argument against it is that it would require a greatly expanded force to provide traffic control throughout the county. This is undoubtedly true. But traffic control doesn't have to be provided.

AS IT IS, we have patrol cars active in the areas that need patrolling, but they are helpless in most cases to do anything. If the law were changed, the present deputies could provide us with some sort of protection.

At least they would not have their hands tied.

It would not require more men to provide us with a modicum of protection. It would not cost more money.

Of course, for those areas which want complete traffic control and augmented police protection, there are other alternatives—incorporation or the formation of a special police district.

But that is not the concern, here. The problem is simply that available forces have their hands tied by the law.

WE DO NOT INTEND that the sheriff's office should become a traffic squad. But we do think that there should be some protection in our residential areas—protection against people who drive without regard for the lives and well-being of their neighbors.

The mechanics of the thing would be simple to set up, once the law were changed. Traffic citations could be processed through the judicial and municipal courts, just as they are now, with practically no additional difficulty.

But in the meantime, you are without protection in a very vital area. The correction is simple. Change the law.

If you feel strongly about this, why not contact your legislator and let him know. He is the only man, now, who can help you.

And it is a serious situation.

Straight From The Heart...

There are an awful lot of people in this part of the country that aren't as fortunate as you are!

But, thanks to a host of willing and wonderful people, most of these families who have not been blessed with all the material things they need, will have a nicer Christmas than they are expecting.

Backbone of the program is the Volunteer Bureau of Contra Costa County, a United Crusade organization.

And the backbone of the Volunteer Bureau are the volunteers, many wonderful men and women who are giving their time and efforts for somebody else.

THERE IS A PART that you can play in this program, too, and it is guaranteed that your Christmas will be happier when you sit around your own tree knowing that you have helped someone else.

The Volunteer Bureau will distribute gifts and food to needy families at Christmas time. Right now material is being collected and stored in a warehouse for distribution over the holidays.

The Senior Citizens of Lafayette have been rebuilding wheel toys for youngsters, and women's groups all over the area have been dressing dolls for the little girls, whose eyes will be wide on Christmas morning.

Incidentally, if you or your group want to enter this program, just call the Volunteer Bureau and they will provide the dolls. All you have to do is dress 'em up and return 'em. They'll end up in some happy little girl's hands.

BESIDES CONTRIBUTIONS of this sort, the Volunteer Bureau will also accept food and other types of toys. The only thing they don't want is clothing.

They will accept cash contributions. The money will go toward the purchase of hams for the families for Christmas dinner and shoe orders for children and sweaters for the teenage members of the families.

So if you are interested in helping this program, here are the people you should call, depending on where you live or where your group is active:

Orinda: Mrs. Robert Haring, CL 4-2739. Lafayette: Mrs. Richard Brooding, AT 3-2778.

Walnut Creek: Mrs. William Weiskirch, YE 4-5922.

Pleasant Hill: On the Walnut Creek side of Geary Road, call Mrs. Weiskirch; on the Concord side, call Mrs. Ann Holloway, YE 5-2183.

MRS. BROODING is the over-all general chairman of this particular Volunteer Bureau program, and will be glad to answer questions for your group.

Just remember. By making someone else's Christmas happier, you are making your own infinitely more satisfactory, and you are joining hands with some of the most wonderful people on earth—those who have learned how to give their time and talents to their needy friends.

The Staff Corner Children Fight Bigotry

By BILL HINES

Students at Springhill School in Lafayette have extended the hand of friendship across the miles to Clinton, Tenn.

Their sense of justice outraged by the Clinton school bombing, a deed by those who think only children of particular racial descent are uniformly entitled to a public education, the Springhill youngsters started a drive for funds to rebuild the demolished schoolhouse.

This was their own idea. Racial prejudice is something no child is born with. In addition, our children learn a sense of fair play in games on schoolgrounds and at home.

SPRINGHILL STUDENTS, like those in other county schools, have their own student body organization, patterned after the democratic governing groups of their elders.

Student body representatives, roused by newspaper stories of the Clinton violence, discussed it and decided they'd like to help their Tennessee compatriots who had been deprived of an education.

The student body representatives reported back to their classrooms where classmates heard a resume of the discussion and contributed their own comments.

At a student council meeting the project of "Operation Dimes" for Clinton was enthusiastically approved.

IN ONLY A WEEK Springhill dimes reached a total of $46.50. The student body treasurer wrote a check for that amount and sent it to the Clinton Schoolhouse Fund.

It was a spontaneous, democratic gesture of goodwill revealing the value our children themselves place on public education and their dislike of prejudice, ignorance, and the outrages against decency that they produce.

The actual amount of money from the Springhill drive isn't important—it would probably hire a bricklayer, even in low-wage Tennessee, for only a couple of days.

But if Springhill's effort were to be multiplied by similar "Operation Dimes" campaigns in other Central County schools, enough could be raised to bring reconstruction of the Clinton schoolhouse a long step toward reality.

WE SUGGEST that students in other Central County schools follow the lead of Springhill in contributing to the Clinton fund—not at the behest of their teachers, but through the same democratic process.

If other youngsters would really like to help, and only then, for "the gift without the giver is bare," we'd like to see them climb on the "Operation Dimes" bandwagon.

Such a campaign by children for children could spread throughout the county, and across county borders to embrace Northern California, cover the State and the entire West.

"OPERATION DIMES" has not only the practical value of helping to rebuild a school so that Clinton youngsters can continue their education.

Such a campaign can't help but inculcate children with the idea that bigotry is not just an attitude to be disliked and avoided personally, but to be fought actively, with dimes, dollars, and votes.

Only through such action can such blots on the American ideal as the Clinton bombing be erased.

Congratulations to the kindly kids at Springhill. We hope they've started something.

THE BIBLE IS THE BEST GUIDE TO BROTHERHOOD

I'D NEVER HAVE TO RECORD ANOTHER WAR

OBSERVE NATIONAL BIBLE MONTH

Vagrant Snowy Memories Bring Hint of Nostalgia

By MARIE MONAHAN

THIS IS THE MONTH when we wish it would snow. Just once over lightly. To perfect the pleasing picture of The Season in Suburbia.

Who wouldn't welcome a day on a Diablo ski slope... or singing in a horse-driven sleigh out tree-lined Danville & Alamo way? Or up & down & around Sleepy Hollow? And What Kid hasn't demanded—"Why CAN'T I have a sled?"

COLORFUL MITTENS & mufflers & wrappers... But snow-suits are a nuisance w/zippers & snappers. Windowpanes white, glistening at night... And snowmen & snowballs... and sled-ding-we-go falls!

This is the only time of the year we wish we could just ONCE swap weather w/the East... Maybe for a week or two. But can you imagine how it would cramp the Commuters? And WHO out here knows how to drive on slippery roads? EVERYBODY could stay home. A sort of Happy Hibernation!

Just about now, at Thanksgiving time, they're christening the ice-skates in New York. The ponds are the popular place to go & Rockefeller Center's rink is a riot of color & music & laughter. The air is frosted and the children chortle as they blow out breaths of self-made smoke.

HERE, the children can still go about sans sweaters... the women WILL & STILL shop in their shorts. There's sunbathing & gardening, even swimming for some. And the camellias & rhododendrons are giving birth to premature blooms.

ON SECOND THOUGHT... We DO have a million myriad hues in our foliage, the trees & greens never looked more beautiful. The frost & snow WOULD kill off the camellias. The kids don't own a sled. We'd have to buy THREE! Snow DOES get messy & dirty. And it WAS just a Passing Fancy as we looked out at the gray blanket of grim sky.

Shrdlu Maneuvers in Space And Finds 'Strange Things'

By JOYCE BARNUM

Shrdlu maneuvered his observation ship perilously close to earth.

He peered through the powerful lens of his glasses and spoke warily, "Eaucer to control: some strange madness has seized them all in America."

"LAST WEEK they began a Countdown. "Only 28 more days!" Then on Wednesday night they practiced a mass evacuation alert. Yesterday more of them joined the processions. They traveled by plane, train, bus and auto.

"When they arrived at their destinations, they all sat down to tables laden with food. Almost all partook of huge birds. "After much eating and groaning, once again they took to the roads, rails and airplanes."

SHRDLU PAUSED to peer more closely. "Now their Countdown is at 22. It's 22 days until—22 shopping days until Christmas, 'sometimes called Xmas, also Over and out."

"Control to saucer: This has been reported before, often. Observers say that now the people of America will invade stores with a frenzy. It appears to be a ritual of some sort. Over and out."

"Saucer to control: Little men are placing trees on vacant lots throughout cities. These are the same trees we observed men cutting in the mountains some time ago. The men are stringing colored light bulbs on the lots also. Over and out."

"CONTROL TO SAUCER: This, too, is a part of the ritual. Soon the people will go to the lots, choose trees and place them inside their houses. They, too, will place colored light bulbs and other bangles on the trees."

Shrdlu burst in, "I grow amazed at trees moved from mountains to city lots to houses."

Control's voice was tolerant. "Saucer, you are young and inexperienced. You will become more amazed as the Countdown progresses. We have observed these rites for many years."

"THE PATTERN HAS changed greatly, but this winter solstice seems to affect them strangely. You will see hordes of people moving to a multitude of things from stores to homes."

"They wrap these items and place them beneath the trees. There will be much to observe."

"This festival of the trees and colored bulbs and packages seems to be a magnification of this. They will chant many songs in many places and under many circumstances before they attack the wrappings of the packages."

THEIR WAYS are strange and difficult to decipher. Throughout the Countdown they will speak often of 'peace on earth to men of good will' while they scurry many, many places in search of this peace."

"WE HAVE BEEN unable to establish what this is all about. People in other lands join in the package worshipping, although they do not partake of the day of the feast of the big bird as yesterday. This is just in America. Over and out."

Shrdlu's voice was humble before Control's great wisdom and knowledge. "I have much to learn. I shall observe closely and attempt to report faithfully. Over and out."

"Control to saucer: This is well. We shall hoep one day to correlate our historical observation data with later findings on these rites. They have become increasingly complex. Over and out."

"Saucer to control: And I shall search for signs of peace on earth which they seek. Over and out."

Control's voice was tired. "You will need the diligence of the ages for this task. Over and out."

Letters to The Editor

LAST STRAW

DEAR EDITOR:

Your editorial of November 21 was the last straw. Seven questions immediately present themselves.

1. How many homeowners are completely satisfied with EBMUD as against the same loud few who always complain? You should look into that angle.

2. What is wrong with having engineers discuss a primarily engineering problem?

3. Or do you think the citizens concerned would prefer that a group of public relations men take on the Mokelumne Aqueduct, or what have you?

4. What does "Almost Secretive" mean? Please do explain.

5. Should EBMUD advertise in the SUN?

6. To what precisely didn't the directors have the answers?

7. Did you intend to deliberately imply that the "meandering" pipeline was more or less recently installed? It is unfortunate that you made no attempt to give the true picture, but rather choose to color a situation in such a way as to have reader appeal.

You have made many broad and ambiguous statements that are not in the best tradition of PUBLIC RELATIONS.

In closing I would like to make one suggestion. Contrary to your implication, EBMUD has their quota of P.R. men, so maybe the SUN should hire a consulting engineer. He could explain the facts in public relation terms to you. Possibly EBMUD could further clarify the situation if you would spare a day or two in their engineering departments. Quite a few foreign countries have sent representatives to study their methods, you know. Or did you?

A PLEDGE

Dear Editor:

At Thanksgiving time we like to pause for a moment and tell our friends we are thinking of them and wishing them well.

At the same time, we like to renew our pledge to continue to serve them in the finest way we know... and to always warrant their complete confidence in us.

We are thankful for your support of Scouting. You have helped us to tell our story and for that we are grateful.

We are very thankful indeed for the friendship that makes such a program possible.

We send our very best wishes to you and your families for Thanksgiving and to that we add a sincere "thank you" for every favor shown boyhood.

SHOCKED

DEAR EDITOR:

It was with great disappointment in The Sun that I saw the enclosed article not only appear in the paper but receive a fairly prominent position.

Our family thought highly enough of our local paper—its editorial policy and its publication of local news—to continue our subscription through our East Coast Transfer; we were not ashamed to allow our Connecticut neighbors a glimpse of Orinda life via the pages of The Orinda Sun.

Therefore, to read an article whose news value is totally overbalanced by its sensationalism in the columns of our local paper—not in some "gossip-orientated" large city newspaper—was a real blow. We hope such "tid-bits of over-the-fence" information will not again appear in the Orinda Sun.

MRS. THOMAS F. MIKA

SCHOOLS VS. GAMBLING

DEAR EDITOR:

Would like to suggest you devote as much time to the Walnut Creek schools as you have to gambling.

Perhaps you can do much to correct some of the faults as you have with local rackets.

At present, it is almost impossible to do anything as a group because of poor information and poor communication.

It's extremely poor politics to try to alone see your kids must get some education even if it is none to good.

Frankly, nothing much is really going to change in the Walnut Creek area until TRUE FACTS are published and the white light of publicity is turned on to the administrators.

Frankly, my children and others ARE NOT getting the education we are paying for.

Please think about this because many good teachers don't get credit and too many don't stay.

THANKS

DEAR EDITOR:

Our goal of $3000 for our recent "Ram Lites 4 Nites" campaign has been reached. The support of our community was outstanding.

We wish to thank your paper for the continuous coverage on our latest and final drive. Without your help it wouldn't have been the success that it was.

Lights will be seen on the Pleasant Hill field for the 1959 football season.

Again, we sincerely appreciate your interest and backing of school enterprises and community campaigns.

Under The Sun

It Can Happen Here And to Your Children!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Did you read the story in last week's Sun about the 16-year-old Acalanes High School girl who has been subjected to marijuana, heroin and liquor. Fearing she was pregnant, she attempted to commit suicide. A 20-year-old Orinda youth pleaded guilty to contributing to delinquency of a minor. A similar incident happened in Vacaville recently—just a few minutes from here. It certainly is a terrible story—and proves that it can happen here—to your children or mine.

Now I am going to quote from a southern California publisher who faced a similar situation. He said, "It is obvious that as individuals we are helpless to combat the situation. In the past many bills have been presented in the (state) legislature by well-meaning legislators. The bills met inevitable death in the judiciary committee. The overpowering effect of some men's quest for money has proven too strong."

What can be done?

"Thus it becomes clear that the only weapon which the people have for their defense is a determined unity of purpose. A thoroughly aroused and determined public can and will force the enactment of adequate laws for the control of illicit narcotics."

"It is at this point that the Elks (Lodge) program enters the picture. This program of circulating petitions is designed solely to provide the people of California the necessary vehicle with which they can make known to the legislature their determination to stop narcotics and to stamp out this killer," the editor writes.

The petitions demand that the legislature pass laws to make mandatory a minimum 30-year-prison sentence, without parole, for any person convicted of selling heroin or addictive drug in a manner not permitted by law. In Ohio such a law was passed in 1955 and peddling of narcotics has since been reduced substantially.

Sign petitions, write letters

The Elks' petitions are now being circulated through this area by the Mt. Diablo Council PTA, the Elks, other groups and individuals. We should certainly sign them. If you don't get this opportunity, you should let our legislators know your feelings. (State Senator George Miller Jr., Martinez; and Assemblyman-elect Jerome Walde, Antioch).

I am surprised that such petitions would be necessary to solve this serious problem. Unfortunately, this is not so.

Perhaps you are like I am—almost immune to reading sensational facts about dope. I didn't pay much attention to the problem—until I read the story in last week's Sun. Later, I read what this southern California publisher wrote after seeing what happened to a 15-year-old high school girl who became addicted to narcotics. Here is part of his report:

"The enslavement of our teen-age children to illicit narcotics is rapidly becoming a national tragedy. It is carried on in every community as a full fledged business, and accounts for about one million dollars each day in California and is the most heinous crime which can be perpetrated."

How to become an addict

"Only one to three shots of heroin are required to create a confirmed addict. Thereafter, that addict can look forward to only two things as his or her complete future—the inside of jails or the slab in the morgue. There is no cure for the addict. Medical annals record no cure. The finality of death becomes the only release."

"It has been found that children between 14 and 18 are the most susceptible to narcotic addiction. At that age they are the most willing to try some form of narcotics, with proper urging. The peddler uses every trick and device to introduce marijuana and pills to his potential victim."

"After the first try, the step is short to heroin and a lifetime customer for the peddler is created. The addict is confirmed and can never stop. Thereafter the addict must steal, rob, kill or commit any crime which will bring him $30 to $100 daily which is required to fulfill the need for narcotics. An addict must have shots spaced at regular intervals or suffer unbelievable agony and when the drug is lacking the addict is extremely dangerous."

Big money makes loopholes

"With the dealer in illicit narcotics the long margin of profit serves at once as his principal attraction and his means of hiring the best legal defense. This profit also provides ample funds with which to purchase special consideration, where available. The record is long with cases where many prior convictions have been cancelled, extremely light sentences and weekends in jail have been imposed upon conviction. Then there is always the hazard of easy parole."

"It is dangerous and foolhardy for any parent to maintain an apathetic attitude toward this menace. If our children live normally and associate with other children, we may rest assured they will be exposed to narcotics. Such exposure and enticement is the business of the peddler. He will make a determined effort to have them try some form of narcotics. Many will fall victims. They have in the past. They will in the future. This is the manner in which addicts are made. None are immune who live in or near populous areas," the publisher concludes.

I have sheaves of statistics and reports to show the increase of addiction and crime caused by narcotics. These I will not cite today. Let's merely look at our children and consider this problem. It can and does happen here.

Letters to The Editor

EBMUD

DEAR EDITOR:

In the November 21 issue of The Sun you made comparison between EBMUD, the agency of Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Marchant Development Company, the paragon of perfect public relations.

Perhaps your memory is short—because you could have made your theme read "You can teach old dogs new tricks."

Did you consider the methods of Marchant Construction Company exemplary when they were seeking less than one acre zoning for their development in Happy Valley Dell?

May we hope for the same end result from this current combat with EBMUD.

Miladies Swirl Gaily At Big Game Ball in California Blue And Stanford Red

Festive Couples Frolic At Orinda Country Club

By MARIE MONAHAN

Orinda Country Club members scored their own touchdown in the social field with last Saturday's celebratory dinner dance. A throng of 250 started arriving shortly before nine to finish Big Game Day at the clubhouse.

Hundreds of blue and gold, red and white balloons were suspended from the ceiling for the festive fun foray. The rhythmic dance tunes of Dick Foy's orchestra were occasionally "intercepted" by rousing stadium songs.

There was a profusion of Cal blue in the pretty frocks floating past—not quite as many in red. But neutral black won out as most popular, showing impartiality to the two "traditional" teams.

ONE OF THE most attractive blue dresses, this one banded in blue velvet, was worn by blonde Betty Bergen. She and her husband Ed at a no-host table with the Hugh MacIntyres (they bypassed the game for the golf greens).

The Clint Eastwoods, the Cliff Johnsons, the Neil Taylors and Kay and Mark Smith were over from Lafayette. Jean and Joe Downs joining the table after ten, this vivacious pair with word they'll spend their holidays in Acapulco.

Another large group finding places at a long table, coming in from an early cocktail gathering at the Ernest Abbes home, where the Art Lundblads, William Maguire, Harry and Marcelline Martin of Hidden Valley, the Donald Huckes, Stan Holmgrens (they'd been busy greeting Eastern relatives arriving for turkey day), the Dick Bleisners and Art Comerfords.

Compliments for Laurie Abbes' red satin harem-skirted frock which whirled away most of the evening on the dance floor and more raves for the Abbes' roster of daughters, five in all, who did cracker and canape duty for their parents party, dressed in gay red and white pedal-pusher ensembles.

DANCE COMMITTEE heads Ralph and Peggy Young of Lafayette arriving at the club from the aforementioned gathering and seeking their own dinner guests, finding them down in the men's locker room watching the game all over again. There, glued to the TV, the Raymond Parshalls, Adolph Markstiens and the Ray Hermanns, all from Glenside in Lafayette.

As the musicians played the "Sturdy Golden Bear," the dance crowd sang in spirited style. The Spencer Kendalls a dance-floor foursome with the Dick Kendalls. Helen Federighi happy-talking. The Aubrey Sweets sailing by, Thelma's décolleté gown wide-skirted in a lush shade of fuchsia satin.

MORE ON DANCE FLOOR... Charlie Thomson making a neat conversion from a two-step to a cha-cha number. Frank Dutra and Jeannette Wright sharing a dance while husband Frank Wright told of their recent Sea Island, Georgia, sojourn to dinner partners Laura Dutra (she chose a toast ribbon lace) and the Joe Langs. Lucille Lang's long-sleeved scoopnecked black lace tres elegante.

Sporting one of her own handmade handsome ribbon knits, this one in white, was Marie Thomson, club publicity head, who was busy arranging for pictures. A nice shot of the long table hosted by the Vernon Louses, dance committee members, who entertained the group earlier at their home.

All smiles and waiting for the flashbulb to blind, the Dale McBaness, Charles Martines, Richard Frosts, Ross Mainwarings and Phil Johnsons.

Lorene Louis winning a bottle of champagne in the late eve as golf pro Pat Patton drew the lucky tickets. And SOMEONE, we never did learn who, scored a FOWL—a twenty-five pound turkey prize to take home for the Big Day this week.

Gala Christmas Gift Box Readied for Therapy Units

The fourth annual "Christmas Gift Box," an all-unit project of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, will open in the Walnut Creek Broadway Shopping Center Thursday and will continue until December 23.

The "Gift Box" will again offer a large variety of gifts and holiday decorations. The gift items, ranging from stuffed animals and bean bags to beautiful door decorations, Christmas trees, stockings, jewelry, Christmas tree skirts and ceramics, are all handmade by members of the thirteen auxiliary units who will also staff the shop.

Among the many interesting gifts for children are a lively doll with mink coat and a beautifully decorated carousel.

'Branches' to Participate in Tree Festival

Contra Costa "branch" members will participate in the eighth annual festival of Christmas Trees, sponsored on December 3-7 by the Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

The event will be held at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley.

Exhibited will be about 175 miniature Christmas trees, many of which will be decorated with care by the branch organizations.

They will be on display and for sale in the "forest" they create along the hotel's mezzanine. Half the trees at this five-day show will be the creations of Branch members.

The others are being donated by friends of the hospital, decorators, florists, civic leaders, business and industrial firms, artists, newspaper men and women, and radio and television celebrities.

Opening night of the festival, as it has been in the past, will be a preview party honoring the donors of the trees, and invitations to curtain-going-up festivities read "5 till 11 p.m., in the Lanai Room."

Festival hours Thursday through Sunday will be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., with Children's Variety Shows planned for the younger tree-viewers at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday.

All proceeds from admissions to the Festival of Christmas Trees and money from the sale of the trees will benefit Children's Hospital of the East Bay's research program and charitable project of part-pay assistance for needy children.

according to Mrs. William Harold Oliver, general chairman of the Branches.

Tallest Prep Quints Ready for 1958-9 Season

Las Lomas Knights Going Through Paces for Opener

Coach Merrill Callow has been putting the Las Lomas Knights through their paces the past week with emphasis on the good old fundamentals.

The Knights were the pre season pick to win in the Foothill League, but loss of players before the season due to sundry reasons have put a dent in the Knight armor.

COACH CALLOW'S job is to iron out the dents and that's going to take a lot of doing as all clubs in the circuit seem to be better than last year.

The Knights open Tuesday when they play Alhambra High at Martinez in a 3:30 p.m. game.

The opening lineup is still a shifting deal, but at present the probable starters will be Tom Nichols and Clark Ransome at forwards with Dave Weill at center or Bob Nye getting the call.

GUARDS SEEM to be Bob Gomez and Jim Sisler.

Nichols, Nye and Sisler are juniors while the others are seniors.

Acalanes Dons Going into High Gear For Basketball Season vs. Vallejo

The Acalanes Dons have been in high gear as they have worked overtime in practice sessions for the fast approaching opening games, but it remains to be seen what gear they will be in when they put their practice to test under game conditions.

Tuesday, the Dons go with Vallejo and next Friday they'll play El Cerrito.

BOTH GAMES will be played away with the Bees starting at 3:30.

The Dons appear to have depth this year and size to do a good job.

Coach Dan Glines emphasized that his starters will shift from day to day and the competition is keen for every spot.

A newcomer to the ranks is Jim Walker (6') who could wind up in the center spot.

JIM, A SENIOR, didn't play last year although he did see service on the Junior Varsity as a sophomore. He has been particularly effective on the boards.

Junior Paul Collin (6'3") and Senior Bill Yonge (6'1") looks to be the best to date at the forward slots.

Mel Simpson (6'2"), junior, was in strong contention until a bone bruise on the bottom of his foot laid him low.

Senior Mike Kritscher (5'11") and Junior Don Nelson (5'9") appear to have the inside track on the guard positions.

Highlanders New Coaches

The Piedmont Highlanders open with a new coach in Bob Cope and a starting veteran five this afternoon when they host the St. Joseph's quint at Piedmont.

The game starts at 3:30.

Coach Cope early in the week announced a tentative all senior starting lineup with one position still pretty much in doubt.

Kevin Hogan (6'2") and Buzz Redford (6'4") are still a toss up at one forward spot with Pete Rowe (6'2") at the other spot.

Huskies to Field Casaba Boards

Coach Bob Vincent of San Ramon High has announced a tentative starting lineup consisting of all seniors.

The crew was a green one last year and had difficulty in getting going but a year's age and experience has shown to advantage with the results they are well ahead of last year's time schedule.

The teams, both varsity and bees, get a real test with three games on tap.

Tuesday they traveled to Benicir for an afternoon game and Wednesday they played host to Amador High of Pleasanton.

Next Friday finds the Wolves playing host to the Clayton Valley Eagles who are in their first year of play.

The tentative starting lineups for San Ramon are:

At forward, George Koolery and Erick Kellner; Guards, Mike Oaks and Gary Scott and the pivot spot should be held down by Mike Kyle.

All but Oaks, who came up from the Bees, played varsity and lettered last year.

Locals Fare Well in Cross Country Trials on 'Farm'

The North Coast Cross-Country trials were held at Stanford last Friday afternoon and local teams came away with some top performances.

The finals which will be held tomorrow at Stanford will find Miramonte and Clayton Valley among the eight finalists.

DIXON FARMER as expected laid back and put on a finishing sprint to take first place in Miramonte's heat.

The Mats copped the second heat (700-1000 enrollment) with Farmer posting a 10:10 time.

The Mats also copped fifth, sixth, 12th and 37th place.

Acalanes was fourth in the heat with San Ramon fifth.

THE DONS' Leo Macfarlane ran one of his better races to finish second in 10:20 with teammate Dick Hawman seventh in 10:32.

The Clayton Valley Eagles, a school in its first year of operation, came up with a time of 54:24 for their five man team, paced by Art Heilmann who won the heat in 10:15.

THE BEST time for Contra Costa league team was turned in by the Pleasant Hill Rams, local league champ, when their five men toured the course in 52:32.

Coach Dan McGuire's team was third in their heat behind Carlmont and Riordan. Times for the Rams were Mike Brodie, 10:35; John Page, 10:46; Rich Holden, 10:56; Steve Weill, 11:02 and Dan O'Brien, 11:05.

Sideline Slants Of Tall Timber, Wrestling Baseball and Cross Country

By ERWIN MATTSON

Basketball has taken the spotlight in local prep circles and the amazing thing is how quickly one changes with the change of season.

In looking over the prospective rosters of the Foothill Division teams, it is amazing how many players are six feet tall or better.

EVERY CLUB in the league has three players or more on the tentative starting team at this early date who are six feet or better.

Must be vitamins or something—as it wasn't too long ago that a six footer was a rarity.

Tops among the tall timber is Miramonte's John Coffey who goes up to six foot, seven inches.

A good line on the Foothill League will be presented to fans December 12 and 13 when the Miramonte Jamboree is held.

THE PLEASANT HILL Rams who play in the Contra Costa League are one of the smaller clubs in the area with the five starters in last Monday's opener with Hayward all under six foot although several were close at five foot, eleven inches.

In checking with prep coaches for information, it is interesting to note that many live in other areas than the ones in which they work.

Merrill Callow of Las Lomas lives in Danville; Bob Muenster of Piedmont lives in Walnut Creek.

BOB COPE of Piedmont lives in Orinda while Jack Carhart of Acalanes lives in Pleasant Hill as does Duane Lewis of Las Lomas.

(The better to spy, my dear).

LAS LOMAS HELD its father-son football banquet in the school cafeteria.

I had the good fortune to be present and it was one of the area's finest events.

CLOSE TO 200 were in attendance at the affair which was "Emceed" by coach George DeKloitz who proved to be as adept at the job as at football coaching—which means he is good since his club copped the pennant.

One of the evening's highlights was the relating of each of the graduating seniors of what football meant to him.

Awards in the forms of trophy footballs were given to Floyd Blower and Dave Weill as senior captains.

Further awards will be made at the football dinner to be given Tuesday by the Walnut Creek Rotary Club.

It was thought that the baseball situation was cleared up when Piedmont failed to pass a school bond issue by a narrow margin.

IF THE BONDS passed a school was to be built on the only plot of land available and suitable for a ball field.

The bonds missed, but now the issue is clouded again as a new election is being held shortly.

It remains to be seen what will happen.

Wrestling is opening as a league sport in the Foothill League with all schools except Piedmont taking part.

THE REGULATIONS are very strict and it is a real test of skill, strength and agility.

Boys are matched according to weight and there is a place for the small men as the bottom weight is 103 pounds.

In one tournament there is even a 95 pound class.

Strangely enough, in the lighter weights are often found the best performances.

THE REASON for this is they are a little faster and a little better coordinated at an early age.

Like swimming, wrestling goes to the North Coast Finals held in late February.

The Foothill and Contra Costa League will hold separate meets to qualify for a Diablo Valley Athletic League Championship affair which will in turn qualify contestants for the North Coast.

Rams Rebuilding Centers Round Maestre, Locatelli

The Pleasant Hill Rams varsity quint under coach Art Polin has a bit of rebuilding to do since two lettermen return in Bill Locatelli and Sid Maestre.

Bill March is stationed at center while Bob Tary up from the jayvees and Ron Yamamoto round out the five at the guard positions.

YAMAMOTO UP FROM the Bees was a sharp shooter last year and could well provide a scoring punch from his guard spot as last year more often than not he hit in double digits.

All but Junior Yamamoto are seniors.

The squad has the possibilities of a good offense with the main problem in height for the boards.

GLEN ODELL a 6'1" senior, has looked good and may provide the answer as far as board control is concerned.

Coach Polin plans plenty of experimentation with player personnel in practice games and hopes some of the football hands will round into basketball shape in a hurry.

One who shows promise is Roger Leonard.

THE RAMS OPENED play Monday when they played host to Hayward High.

The next action for the Rams comes Tuesday when they play Harry Ellis of Richmond in a 3:15 game and next Friday the Rams go against Livermore at 7 p.m.

Drive carefully. Many of our roads wind through the hills, and there are many small children playing in the area. An accident could be tragic.

Matadors Ready For Topflight Season with Vets

The Miramonte Matadors from down Orinda way had a rough go of it when they went winless during the football season, but chances are that it will be a far different story in basketball.

The Matadors are loaded with a good crew of vets who have played together since the school's opening and from their past record could well be a pennant contender.

COACH BOB CALLAN'S crew got a lift when 6' 7" John Coffey returned after a year's absence in India. He has been slow in rounding into form as he missed a year's play, but practice sessions along with practice games could bring him around by the time league play gets underway.

The Matadors open play Wednesday with DeAnza High at Richmond.

THE TEAM HITS the road twice when they travel to Liver-

Hayward Tops Rams In 45-46 Tilt

The Pleasant Hill Rams opened a day earlier than scheduled when they played host to Hayward High last Monday afternoon.

The Bees playing the visitors Junior Varsity overcame a height and weight handicap to top the Farmers 30-23.

IN THE VARSITY go it was another close one only this time the Rams lost 46-45.

The local quintet was as cold as the weather in the first half when they trailed 15-7 at the quarter and 29-15 at the half-way mark.

Coach Art Polin gave the Pleasant Hill club a few well chosen words of wisdom at the half time and they responded with a near winning comeback second half only to fall one point short of a draw.

The Rams hit for a good 14 points in the third quarter and 16 in the final canto while holding Hayward to nine and eight in that order.

THE GAME WAS a loosely played one with frequent fouls on both sides. Pleasant Hill had 21 and Hayward 17.

Hayward was in their third game having defeated Oakland High by 18 and lost to Encinal of Alameda by six in an earlier encounter.

The home team had plenty of shots taking 63 from the floor while connecting on 17.

HAYWARD HIT the hoop on 16 of 47 shots gaining the win from the foul line.

Forward Bill Locatelli topped the Rams in the scoring column.

He hit 20 points on nine field goals and two free throws while Ron Yamamoto hit for 12 on four field goals and four free throws.

more and Antioch. Both are 3:30 p.m. doubleheaders with the Bees opening.

The starters, all seniors, are: Coffey at center, forwards Bob Hudson and Rob Anthonisen along with guards Randy Young and Bill Houston.
